THE FLOODS

National Associated Press.

A DEPLORABLE SITUATION.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., March 3.—A gentleman from Southeast Arkansas reports a deplorable state of affairs. The water is 14 inches higher than ever known. Stock is drowned, fences and other improvements washed away, and levees gone from Hush-hucking to Vicksburg. This involves a loss which will reach nearly a million dollars. At Catfish Point, Miss., the levee gave way on Wednesday night, sweeping stores, residences, out buildings to the timber. Several negroes were drowned. They would not heed the warning given. Loss of life is numerous all along the river. No one seemed to realize that the flood was upon them and failed to take precautions. Hunger stares the people in the face. Thousands of ties of logs have been swept either into the river or bayous and lagoons, inaccessible points at ordinary stages of the water. To sum up, 2,000 people are left without present means of subsistence, with no stock, no seed, and no means to make another crop; entirely bereft of money or credit, and nothing left except the land and that under water from 4 to 20 feet.

THE DELAWARE.

National Associated Press.

BORDENTOWN, N. J., March 3.—The rise in the Delaware river this morning completely submerged Duck Island, and the residents were compelled to flee in haste. Travel is blocked on the Pennsylvania railroad between here and Trenton, the track being 20 inches under water. The offices of the Delaware and Raritan canal and neighboring buildings are flooded with water. The Pennsylvania shore is flooded for miles, and should the water go higher by next tide great damage will result.

RELIEF MEASURES.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Secretary Lincoln this afternoon sent the following dispatch to Lieutenant General Sheridan at Chicago:

"Congress has authorized $100,000 to be expended for subsistence stores in aid of persons made destitute by the floods of the Mississippi river and tributaries. Supplies are being purchased chiefly by Gen. Beckwith, St. Louis. I call on the governors of states to designate committees to co-operate with commanding officers for supplies and make detailed distributions. This seems the best practicable way, but I would like to have several good officers go into the regions, so I may have the most reliable information of the general extent of the troubles and actual needs, so that wasteful issues may not be made. Gen. Beckwith can, of course, inform the officers of his orders and action taken, which will give them information as to localities. Please make the necessary details and advise me."

FIRES

Special to The Bee.

AT GUTHRIE CENTER, IOWA.

DES MOINES, Iowa, March 3.—This morning the Guthrie county court house was discovered to be on fire in the sheriff's office by the town watchman. The fire originated in the ceiling in the second story, and quickly spread to the dome. The district court being in session, the court records were mostly in the court room, but by the heroic efforts of the clerk were mostly saved before the falling of the roof drove him away. The county records were in the closet vaults, and are believed to be safe, as the walls of the vaults appear to be intact. By diligent efforts the fire was kept from surrounding buildings. Loss on court house, $20,000; insured for $25,000. The origin of the fire is unknown.

DES MOINES, March 3.—The house passed this afternoon in debating the Aldrich railway pass bill. It was amended so as to include editors, but the house adjourned before a final vote was reached.

Mr. Aldrich made a speech in advocacy of the measure, replying at length to the strictures of the railway commission upon such legislation. The indications are that the bill will be defeated.

The senate besides voting the gold medal to Kate Shelley to-day, passed a bill to appropriate $200 to be presented with the medal.

Senate Officials Exonerated.

National Associated Press.

RICHMOND, Va., March 3.—The special committee appointed to investigate the conduct of certain senate officials who were charged with attempting to bribe members of the general assembly, submitted their report to the senate to-day, accompanying the same with a large fold of documents, evidence which was ordered to be printed. The report was shown and completely exonerates the senate officials and state officers from the charges made.

The Naval Committee Junket.

National Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., March 2.—The house naval committee today completed examination of the unfinished monitors, Amphitrite and Puritan, at Wilmington and Chester. To-morrow they will proceed to inspection of the Terror and Macdonough at League Island, and in witnessing the launch of a vessel of the Old Dominion line at John Roach's yard at Chester. The party, which consists of nearly all the committee on naval affairs, Commander Evans and other naval officers and a number of correspondents, travel in a special Pullman car, the arrangements being under the direction of Clerk Coffey. The trip is being made one of pleasure as well as business. To-night the party was entertained at the Continental hotel. Hon. James G. Blaine and Admiral Warden accompanied them as far as Wilmington. A great majority of the committee think, after inspection thus far made, the vessels should be completed even if they should prove useless except for harbor defense and notwithstanding their cost will be nearly $4,000,000, one or two of the committee insist that it would be wiser to sell the vessels for old iron. One advantage of the trip has been to show the success and facility with which steel working is prosecuted at Chester and the liveliness of the ship building interest in the yards of Mr. Roach and others visited. The committee will return to Washington Saturday.

John W. Guiteau expects Gen. B. F. Butler to argue the case in the general term. Speaking of Mrs. Scoville's recent letter, Mr. Scoville says: "I did not see the letter until a friend of mine in New York called my attention to it in the New York Star." "It has been remarked," said the reporter, "that the letter indicated you." "Yes, that's so," said Scoville, with a smile, "she gets off her base sometimes."

HOWELL COLLAPSED.

NEW YORK, March 3.—Howell withdrew from the race at 9:55 a. m., to-day, with a credit of 415 miles and 3 laps.

Hazael after accomplishing his 500 miles, which he did at 2:14 p. m., in 110 hours, 15 minutes and 10 seconds retired to his tent. He returned just before 3 o'clock and resumed his old game. Fitzgerald, Hart and Noremac were all in good condition and were running in the order named. Hughes was constantly leaving the track.

At 4 o'clock Noremac was doing some fine running, having since 9 o'clock gained over 13 miles on Hart. When the latter went to his tent at 4:15 p. m., Noremac kept on and passed the mile. Sullivan came on the track at 4 o'clock, after an hour's absence.

Sullivan, the champion prize fighter, visited the garden this afternoon with Barney Aaron. An enthusiastic crowd kept following them from one place to another.

At 5 p. m. over 2,000 persons, including many ladies, were in the garden cheering the walkers. Some excitement was caused by two men becoming involved in a dispute about the unfolding of his arm. Hart came on the track at 5:35; he was off 40 minutes, and seemed greatly refreshed. Fitzgerald ate his supper on the track.

The report circulated after his withdrawal from the race that Howell was dead is not true. He spent the afternoon driving with friends and seemed to be enjoying himself.

At 5:17 p. m. Hazael left the track for rest, and returned at 6:35 in better condition. Sullivan was suffering greatly from rheumatism, and had been off the track nearly two hours. During that time Hughes, who is brightening up, passed him. Hart, Fitzgerald and Hazael each received a bouquet from admirers, and received applause from the spectators.

Sullivan's face showed signs of suffering when he appeared on the track at 7:10. Fitzgerald was making a desperate struggle for first place, and was making things lively for Hazael. When Fitzgerald covered his 500th mile, which he accomplished at 6:35 in 114 hours and a half, he was loudly cheered. Hart and Noremac were constantly spurting.

At 10 o'clock Hazael was 13 miles ahead of the best record and apparently in good condition and able to outpace any of the contestants. Hughes showed decided improvement in his condition during the evening and his trainers are confident he will make the necessary 25 miles to share in the game money. Large sums have been wagered that Hazael will make over 600 miles.

Noremac, the wonderful little Scotchman, after making 86 miles since midnight left the track at 7:45 for a short rest. He returned at 8:05 p. m., looking almost as fresh as when he started. At 8:10 Fitzgerald was presented with a $100 bill, which he held over his head as he ran around the track side by side with Noremac. In conversation Peter Duryea, manager of the walk, said: "Rowell is beaten and he does not want to make any excuses. As to his drinking vinegar yesterday I saw that myself, and will take my affidavit to it. While not making any excuses, I will say Rowell was trained down five pounds lighter than he was in any other match he ever entered. Yesterday he told me to put $250 on him for himself and expressed himself as confident of winning. Why on the first day, when he did 150 miles in 22 hours, he would have gone farther had I not stopped him."

"What truth is there in the report that Rowell is now in a precarious condition?"

"Well," said Duryea, "I left Rowell and Asplen at 11:30 o'clock and they were then going to my stables intending to take a drive."

William B. Curtis, of the Spirit of the Times, says Rowell is all safe and sound physically, but that he feels very bad over being compelled to withdraw from the race.

Fully 6,000 people were in the building by 9 o'clock, and the excitement increased as the leading men trotted around the track at a racing speed. During the racing an enterprising club house presented each of the contestants with a magnificent pillar of flowers, with their names worked in the center.

Hazael continued his run up to 11:35, when, having completed 540 miles, he left the track for rest, being 27 miles ahead of Fitz.

The receipts so far have been about $3,500.

Hart, the colored man, appears to be in the best condition of the contestants, but will not cover as many miles as his backers desire.

NEW YORK, March 4.—Noremac, amid cheering, completed his 500th mile at 12:14 a. m., and then left the track for rest.

ASSASSINATION.

National Associated Press.

THE QUEEN'S HEROISM.

LONDON, March 3.—Queen Victoria after dinner at Windsor Castle last evening, retired as usual to her apartment and this morning it was stated that she had slept well and felt no evil effect from the shock of attempted assassination yesterday. The remarkable self composure and courage of the queen in this as on the former occasion, when her life was attempted, is the theme of general praise and admiration. The bullet which was discharged from the pistol of the would-be assassin has been found in the station yard at Windsor.

THE ASSASSIN'S STATEMENT.

The man who fired at the queen gave the name of Roderick McLean, and said that he committed the act through starvation, but several valuable articles and a sum of money found on him disprove this assertion. Several ball cartridges were found on him. After firing the shot he dropped the revolver in the station yard, where his captors found it, with two chambers still loaded. The would-be assassin has been pronounced sane by several physicians who have visited him at the police station. The queen's health is unaffected by the occurrence.

The examination into the antecedents of the assassin is now going on, but its results have not been made public. The impression increases, however, that McLean is something more than an insane vagrant and that the investigation will show that something like a half-digested plan for the assassination of the queen had really been formed.

Roderick McLean, the young man who shot at the queen yesterday, was examined this afternoon. He was cool and straightforward in his answers. He affirmed that he did not mean to harm the person of the queen; that he fired the shot at her because "it was the only way he had left of drawing the public attention to the state of affairs which compelled him to commit a crime against the very heart of the nation in order to reach the blasted aristocracy of the country and make them sensible to the popular hatred of the institution which hedged them about and protected them in their villainies against the people. He admitted that in his estimation the queen had done nothing herself to oppress her subjects, but insisted that she was at the head of the aristocratic system that dore down upon the people with an unapproachable weight and tyranny, and that his shot was directed towards her, not for the purpose of harming her, but of warning the aristocracy that the people of whom he was one, and whom he volunteered to represent, were impatient and in a dangerous temper."

A friend in need is a friend indeed. This none can deny, especially when assistance is rendered when one is sorely afflicted with disease, more particularly these complaints and weaknesses so common to our female population. Every woman should know that Electric Bitters are woman's true friend, and will positively restore her to health, even when all other remedies fail. A single trial always proves our assertion. They are pleasant to the taste, and only cost fifty cents per bottle.
